GETTING MONEY FROM CANDIDATES

In the New York senate a bill was passed making it a crime for any person to solicit money for advertising or for tickfine of $50, but it was amended to make the penalty imprisonment for life. While this heavy penalty might have been attached to defeat the bill, it does have some reflection of the enormity of asking a candidate to buy a ticket or other-ways a means not, for beneath it is a threat to vote against a candidate if he doesn't "pony up." There ought to be a law against it, and the law should be stringently enforced. One can hardly imagine the depth of meanness there is in a person going to a candidate for money or subscription because he is a can-

HOW "PUT" SIZES UP
G. O. P. INEFFICIENCY

[Ottawa Sentinel, Put Sandle's paper]

While legislature spent 19,000 bushels of corn in telephone talk, Donahay has struck pay dirt again. Uncovered graft and extravagance of last legislature.

Willis parades Ohio. Talks economy Democrat Donahay stays in his office.
Digs up facts, figures, and vouchers.
Proves Willis to be the most extravagant Governor Ohio has ever had. Wreck crew spent and wasted more public money than was ever done before.

Auditor Donahay investigated expenses of the legislature. Reported his findings to Willis. It was a bomb in the wreck crew camp. Causing Donahay has become the occupation of some of the G. O.
P. sinners.

The Governor has the report. What will he do. Some of the graft and extravagance still goes on. Will Willis stop it? Will he be afraid to lift his hand against it? Has he the courage that Governors ought to have?

Donahay's report hints that some members of the legislature "loaded up for years to come." He found bills for the following articles purchased and divided among the Wreck crew: 741 pairs of scissors,
1,153 pen holders, 24 pairs of shears, 29 pounds of rubber bands.

This would give each legislator about 50 lead pencils, 8 pen holders, and 5 pairs of shears. Of course some got more than others.

The Auditor's report states that fancy pocket knives and memorandum books were purchased at state expense.

The Auditor complains that this practice has gone on for forty years, but the last legislature has outdone all its predecessors.

TWO HANDY PAMPHLETS ON OHIO

The Ohio State Board of Commerce, Columbus, has just published two booklets of interest to all citizens of Ohio.

"A Handy Guide for Ohio Taxpayers." by Judge R. M. Ditty, former chairman of the Tax Commission of Ohio, carries a comprehensive digest of the state tax laws. The pamphlet sells for 25 cents.

"The Primary Election Laws of Ohio" is a booklet by Hon. D. J. Ryan, former secretary of state. This publication sets forth clearly the meaning of Ohio's complex election system. The price is 15 cts.

OHIO'S CAMPAIGN

AGAINST SALOONS

Most Thorough Preparation Ever

Attempted By Any State.

GETTING READY FOR BATTLE

Work Has Already Begun and It includes a Survey of the Liquor Traffic, a Complete Organization of the Temperance Forces and an Educational Campaign Which is Expected to Reach to the remotest Corner of the State.

Columbus, O.—(Special).—What is declared by temperance leaders of the country to be the most stupendous campaign ever planned against the liquor traffic in any state is being carefully mapped out in detail by the Ohio Anti-Saloon league. Part of the work is now under way.

Holding as incidental the date of the next election on statewide prohibition, the campaign now on has for its object as complete preparedness as possible for the next battle, whenever it may occur.

The approval given to the general plan by the trustees of the state league and the chairman of the county dry organizations was equivalent to pressing the button which set in motion the machinery. The rapidity of this machinery depends largely on the activity of the temperance forces of the state. So far as the Anti-Saloon league and kindred organizations are concerned, this is expected to be the busiest year in Ohio temperance history.

The last two statewide campaigns have served to clear the atmosphere and have permitted a survey of the line-up of the contending forces. The drys now know the odds they are facing and do not propose to go into the battle unprepared. When the next contest begins every temperance man and woman is expected to be equipped and ready.

The educational work will begin at once. More voters are to be informed concerning the work of the saloon and the drink traffic. The Anti-Saloon league believes that with the facts pressed home, the careless and indifferent will become active workers for a dry state.

Throughout the program for publicity, organization, general survey and all other phases of preparedness, special attention will be given to systematic action in all parts of the state.
The plan of organization contemplates reaching from the block school district and precinct up through the county to the state organization.

In order to get a good working basis, a general survey of the liquor traffic is being made. This survey will include everything about the operation of the saloon that will help the dry cause. The survey is also expected to show in a practical way the relation of alcohol to crime and pauerism, how alcohol affects the employer and employee, and the family, as well as the relation of drink to disease and its effects on business.

The Anti-Saloon league is relying on the belief that if the voters have the facts before them, they will be guided by these facts when they go to the polls, and it is facts that the investigators intend to secure.

While the work is not of the kind that is accomplished by noise and red fire, it is believed to be necessary as a foundation for an effective campaign to make Ohio dry.

Greenville, O., March 24.—John Lady, an automobile salesman, attempted to kill his wife by slashing her throat with a razor and inflicting numerous cuts on other parts of her body. She escaped by jumping from a second-story window, and ran to the house of a neighbor. The police were notified, and upon making a search of the house, found the body of Lady lying on the bed with a bullet hole through her head, self-inflicted. Lady was thirty-four years old. The wife has a fair chance to recover.

A TYPICAL EXAMPLE OF ANTI-

SINGLE TAX IGNORANCE

At the Forest Industry Conference, held at San Francisco in October, Captain E. A. Selfridge, Jr., president of the California Forest Protective Association is reported to have said:

1. Joseph Fels was owner of large amounts of land in a number of states and localities.

2. He had no occasion to advertise single tax to secure exemption of his "plant and stocks on hand."

His factory is in Philadelphia, where all factory machinery and products have for years been exempt from taxation. So far as his interest as a manufacturer was concerned, it was against extending to his competitors in other places the same exemption that he enjoyed. But he was a worker for humanity first, and a manufacturer and landowner afterward.

3. Single taxes do not want to put additional taxes on "real estate." Real Estate means land and improvements. They wish to take all taxes off of improvements so that so far from putting additional taxes on real estate, they would lighten the tax burden of all that is properly improved. It is on valuable land held out of its proper use, that they would increase the tax burden.

4. One object of single tax is to put the burden of taxation where it naturally belongs, on the only form of property that increases in value through benefits conferred by proper exercises of governmental functions. Another object is to open to labor opportunities which land monopolists now withhold from them.

Captain Selfridge has been reckless in making statements about others and impugning their motives. But we will nevertheless refrain from offering any retort in kind. But he has a duty which he cannot properly avoid. Now that his mistakes have been explained he owes an acknowledgment of error and an apology to the members of the Conference whom he deceived—probably unintentionally. He also did an injustice to the memory of Joseph Fels and to single taxers generally. But if he undeceives his fellow members of the Conference, it will be enough reparation for all. Now Captain Selfridge has the floor.
